Foreword by Co-Eds

As our days at McKell are drawing to a close, we take great pleasure in sharing with you some of our most memorable moments of the past four years. Within the covers of the 1963 McKell, we have strived to present activities that we hope each of you will enjoy.

We have enjoyed working under the leadership of our very capable sponsor, Mr. Carl Coldiron, who has dedicated himself to the tasks of making this annual a success.

We sincerely hope that we have not labored in vain, but that this annual will find a place among your treasured memories. It is with pride that we present to you the 1963 McKell.

Acknowledgments

We gratefully acknowledge:

1. The support of the faculty without whose suggestions this book could not have been made.
2. Our advertisements and friends who have contributed toward the financial support of our yearbook.
3. The cooperation of student body who through many interruptions have been behind us.
4. Mr. Paul Nortaker and Mr. Gordon Caldwell of Taylor Publishing and Mr. Fox with his helpful staff who have worked with us in the preparation of this book.
5. Our staff members who have given so much time, attention and ideas to our project.
6. To Mr. Lowdenback, our department heads and other friends too numerous to mention, we acknowledge a sincere "Thanks."

Willing Hands

MRS. BETTY HOLMES

To one who has been an inspiration to us through our high school years, who has taught us that to strive to be a better student is to be a better man or woman. To one who has taught us many good habits of worth by first setting the example herself, we respectfully offer the dedication of this the 1962-63 McKell.

To the Class of 1963:

Every yearbook is unique, there is no other like it. We hope that each of you will treasure this volume as a reminder not only of friendship and acquaintances formed among fellow students and faculty members, but also of the educational advantages you have enjoyed, and of the obligation which you carry to contribute to your country as a citizen.

Your family, your community, and all civilization may be made better or worse by your individual efforts. There is no human hope or achievement which does not trace back to the minds and hearts of individual people. The grandeur of those hopes and quality of those achievements in the generation ahead is peculiarly yours to decide, as a graduate of McKell High School.
